REFUSED CAR INSURANCE FOR LIVING IN TOTTENHAM

Shock: Eileen Hickman needs a car to take husband to hospital

Motorist has driven for 50 years and never made a claim

By Lucy Purdy

A WOMAN who has driven for 50 years without making a single claim has told of her shock after being denied car insurance because she lives in Tottenham.

Eileen Hickman, whose home is in Langham

Road, was told by a Tesco representative that she could not get insurance on her ten-year-old Ford Fiesta because she lives in the N15 postcode. Mrs Hickman, 73, relies on her car to take her 81-year-old disabled husband Norman to regular appointments at the Royal Free Hospital in Hampstead and reacted with disbelief at being told she could not be helped when she inquired about cover.

She has never claimed on her insurance since learning to drive in 1960 and only clocks up a modest 4,000 miles each year.

Mrs Hickman told the Advertiser: "The man on the phone asked for my postcode and when I told him it was N15 he went to check something and said 'I'm awfully sorry but we don't insure people at all from that postcode'. I told him that I thought that was appalling. I've lived here for 73 years and I can't see that it is that bad."

"My husband went into hospital in May and I got so many offers of help from people in my street, some I didn't even know before. My neighbour opposite said she noticed I had been coming and going a lot and asked what was wrong and another offered to do my shopping for me. Some people don't even know their neighbours but here they are all so kind."

Another company told Mrs Hickman it would cost £970 to insure the car – and she would have to pay an excess of £350 if she were to have a claim – but that the price would be just a snip at £275 if she lived just outside Tottenham.

Tottenham is a hot spot for people driving without insurance and last year Haringey police launched a crackdown on all uninsured drivers.

"I just think of the youngsters," Mrs Hickman added. "If you take a young man of 20 and they are quoting him something like £1,400 to insure his car then I can understand why so many people drive without getting insurance. Before, that used to make me cross but now I see why people are tempted."

"Tesco has a big supermarket in Tottenham – they are quite happy for people from N15 and N17 to go and spend their money in there but not to insure our cars for us."

A spokeswoman for Tesco said: "Tesco car insurance has very broad eligibility criteria and we are always looking at ways of how we can meet our customers' needs." In common with all other car insurers we consider a wide range of factors to offer quotes to customers. Unfortunately, in this instance we were unable to provide a quotation."

Woman caught by litter patrol

By Lucy Purdy

A WOMAN from Enfield has been fined more than £900 by Haringey Council for dropping a cigarette on the pavement and failing to pay her penalty notice.

Enforcement officers spotted Kristina Djemal, of Charnwood Road, throwing away the cigarette in Wood Green High Road on August 5 this year.

The officers were carrying out a litter patrol exercise with police at the time.

Djemal, who is in her twenties, was slapped with a fixed penalty notice of £75. But despite reminder letters being sent, she failed to stump up the cash and the case was referred for prosecution. Although Djemal failed to turn up to Tottenham Magistrates' Court on December 1, she was found guilty of littering and fined £525 with costs of £382. A collection order was also granted, allowing bailiffs to visit her home to collect the money.

Councillor Nilgun Canver, cabinet member for neighbourhoods, said: "People seem to think it's OK to drop cigarette butts in the street. Well it's not OK."

"It costs the council a lot of money to sweep up this litter and I hope this fine will make people think twice before throwing a butt away in future."

The prosecution comes in the wake of the council's new zero-tolerance campaign in which Haringey Council chiefs have vowed to clamp down on inconsiderate people filling the borough's streets with rubbish. Anyone now caught dropping litter of any form will be given a fixed penalty notice and have to pay £75. Motorists who fling empty crisp packets and drink cans from their vehicle windows are also being targeted. The main junction of the Great Cambridge Road in Tottenham is a notorious rubbish hot spot. Each month the council has to apply for a traffic management order from TfL and permission from the Highways Department to close the road in order to sweep it, at a cost of about £2,000 each time.

Images of robbery suspects at bookies

POSTERS displaying the faces of people suspected of robbing betting shops are to be displayed in bookmakers across London in a bid to track them down.

In what police are calling a "pioneering initiative", CCTV images of suspected armed robbers captured at scenes of crime will be posted in bookies across Haringey this month. It is part of the Metropolitan Police Service's Flying Squad Christmas campaign, launched to crack down on armed robberies in the festive season.

The poster campaign may become a permanent fixture if it is successful.

The Flying Squad's Detective Chief Inspector Ian Corner said: "Armed robberies are extremely frightening experiences for the staff and customers. Hopefully these images will help track down and bring to justice the perpetrators of these calculated and planned offences, which put a number of people in fear of their lives.

"There are some excellent CCTV images out there. We want to make it clear to criminals that if you decide to rob one of these venues there's a good chance that your picture will appear on a wall somewhere."

He said there has been a 42 per cent reduction in the number of betting shop robberies in the past six months and credited a "strong partnership" between police and the betting industry.

Backed rise:
Featherstone

By Lucy Purdy

ANGRY students dressed up as suffragettes and demonstrated outside the office of MP Lynne Featherstone in protest at her "broken pledge" on student tuition fees.

Members of the National Union of Students donned straw hats and headscarves and stood outside her constituency office at the Three Compasses pub in High Street, Hornsey, last Wednesday – before the vote by MPs on whether to increase students' university fees. Ms Featherstone is also the Minister For Equalities in the new Con Lib government. She voted for a hike in higher education fees but called it "a difficult decision" and said her view of education – free through raising taxation – was "not on the table".

Under the controversial plans, tuition fees could be raised from a maximum of £3,290 to £6,000 and even as much as £9,000 per year if universities meet conditions on widening access, including offering bursaries or setting up outreach programmes to encourage students from poorer backgrounds to apply.

The threshold at which graduates have to start paying their loans back would be raised from £15,000 to £21,000 and would increase annually with inflation.

Olivia Bailey, national women's officer for the NUS, explained to the Advertiser why they had felt moved to come out and

Students in suffragette demo as MP breaks pledge on fees

Protest: Students dressed as suffragettes protest. The 24-year-old said: "We wanted to organise a demonstration the day before the crucial vote, to ask Lynne Featherstone to stick with her pledge to vote against an increase in fees."

"We were also making the point that she should also consider the fact that any rises in fees will hit women hardest, because of the gender pay gap. We dressed up as suffragettes because women before us fought for the right to vote and the right to an education. This decision is actually going to take that right away from thousands of women. Lynne made that pledge and has now broken it."

"She has betrayed us students and her constituents who voted for her. We are very disappointed."

Passers-by stopped to listen to the protesters' shouts of "don't price us out of education" and read their banners which read: "stand up for women students".

They also labelled Ms Featherstone the Minister For Hypocrisy. Ms Bailey issued an open invitation to the minister to come to speak to NUS members on the issue.

Lib Dem councillor quits party after tuition vote

A LIBERAL Democrat councillor in Haringey has ripped up his membership card in protest as the coalition government voted to triple the maximum tuition fees which could be charged to students.

Councillor Matt Davies, who will continue to represent the Fortis Green ward as an independent, announced his decision "with great sadness" after news of the controversial vote emerged on Thursday. He is just one of a wave of Lib Dem councillors across the country who have been venting their anger by quitting the party.

Mr Davies has been a member of the Lib Dems for 15 years but felt he was "unable to compromise" on tuition fees.

He said: "Although the tuition fees package voted through by the coalition is no doubt much better with Liberal Democrat influence than it would have been under a Conservative government, I do not feel I can remain a member of the party."

"Following the general election, the coalition government was the best outcome for the country and I believe that Liberal Democrats have already made a real and positive difference in government. However, while compromises are necessary, tuition fees is one area that I do not personally feel able to compromise on. I believe in an education system – which benefits the whole of society – funded through general taxation and not through student fees. For this reason, and with great sadness, I have resigned my membership of the Liberal Democrats."

He pledged his ongoing support to Haringey Lib Dem leader Robert Gorrie as well as Hornsey and Wood Green MP Lynne Featherstone and urged the party to continue "bringing forward the fresh ideas that Haringey needs".

Mr Gorrie said he was saddened at the decision and hoped that, in time, he would rejoin the party.

he added: "As Liberal Democrats we are delivering on many of our key policies in government: fairer taxes; a fair start for children with extra funding for disadvantaged pupils; a comprehensive clean-up of our politics, including a fairer voting system; and a green, sustainable economy."

"I know Matt would agree that Haringey residents deserve a better local council than the 40 years of failure we have had under Labour. We can achieve better for Haringey."

There will be no Haringey Advertiser until January 12. A very happy Christmas and new year to all our readers!

Baby Peter: A still from Panorama

Interview held between mother of Baby Peter and social worker shows how abuse was missed

Interview: Tracey Connelly (right) speaks to Sue Gilmore

A PREVIOUSLY unseen interview filmed with Baby Peter's mother four months before the toddler's tragic death was screened on BBC1's Panorama on Monday night.

The footage, showing an hour-long conversation between Tracey Connelly and a senior social work manager at Haringey Council, provides a new insight into how the case was handled and the "misplaced optimism" about Baby Peter's mother, which led to authorities missing the signs of his abuse.

The interview, conducted by Sue Gilmore, the senior team manager overseeing the case, includes Connelly talking about her "dreamboat" friend Steven – Steven Barker was also convicted of causing or allowing the toddler's death – and giving explanations for the toddler's injuries which should have raised alarms.

It later emerged that he was being abused at the time the footage was filmed – the signs were missed despite the 17-month-old being on the authority's at-risk register.

The interview was not shown to police investigating Baby Peter's death and only came to light as a result of an investigation by Panorama in their making of Baby P: In His Mother's Words.

Ms Gilmore is seen thanking Connelly for being "really open, completely honest" and adds: "I'm impressed, really, really impressed, with the way you have been able to come in here, sit in front of that," as she points toward the camera.

By Lucy Purdy

Connelly is seen saying: "So that's why when we are at a friend's house, Peter fell and banged his chin and he got cut there and there and a graze and when he caught himself on the table."

"But my instant reaction, well after initially petting him, was to take photos of the table so that I can show the social services. Because I was scared that if there was no evidence they were going to say that I done it."

She also said that she wanted her family to be left alone by social workers: "I don't like having people interfere. I don't mean that in a horrible way. I know that the social worker is there for a job, and I know they are there for a purpose, and at the end of all this I hope they will back off and leave me alone so that I am a caring mother. Does that make sense?"

Ms Gilmore replies: "That's a fairly straightforward thing to want."

Graham Badman, who led the second serious case review, described the interview as "appalling".

He said: "There are several occasions when Peter's life could and should have been saved, from the first case conference through to the paediatrician's failure to act decisively at the end of the life."

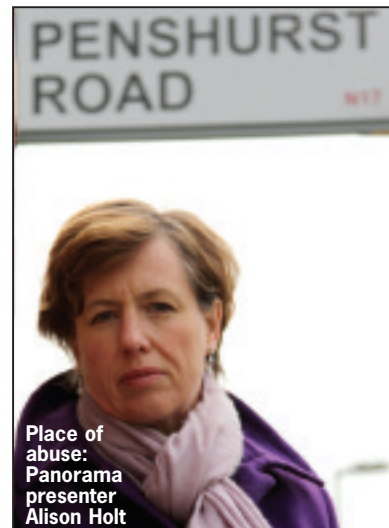

Ms Gilmore conducted the interview as a first assignment for a diploma in solutions. She left the council of her own accord in January 2008 and has faced no disciplinary proceedings.

A council spokeswoman said: "The past failings in our child protection services are well documented and we have apologised unreservedly and repeatedly for those mistakes. We have accepted that solution-focused brief therapy, which was considered as part of the second serious case review, was not appropriate in the Baby Peter case and it is no longer used at all in Haringey."

"In the past couple of years we have made fundamental and wide ranging changes and improvements to the way child protection works in Haringey as evidenced clearly and positively by the recent Ofsted unannounced inspection."

"Continuing this significant progress until we at least equal the level of the very best remains our focus."

"We are well on course to achieving that."

HARINGEY'S social housing register will be closed from next week to allow the system to be revamped.

Until now, residents living in the borough have been allocated housing under a points system with more points equating to a higher place on the list for a council or housing association home. But plans were approved by Haringey Council's cabinet last month to change the way housing is allocated.

Homes will now be given to applicants on the basis of the housing needs band they are in, rather than the number of points they have. The new system has five bands – from A to E – and will come into effect in January.

The register is expected to be closed for between four and six weeks, but cases deemed urgent will still be dealt with.

Housing in process of overhaul

Councillor John Bevan, cabinet member for housing, said: "This new system will be fairer and simpler. In particular, a high priority will be given to council and housing association tenants who are looking to move out of under-occupied family-sized or specially adapted homes – freeing them up for others."

"The current system is extremely complex, difficult to explain and administer and prevents people from making informed decisions about their future housing."

People who are in Band A and B will not have to re-register. They will be notified this month about the change and the impact this will have on their position on the housing register. Those who are in one of the lower bands (C, D or E) will have to re-register between January and the end of March.

16-year-old stabbed in rush hour

A BOY of 16 was repeatedly stabbed in the chest in front of commuters during a frenzied rush-hour attack in Wood Green.

Detectives are appealing for witnesses after the teenager was attacked by two young men who punched and stabbed him outside the Park Vue dental practice, opposite side the road to Wood Green bus garage in High Road. It is thought the victim had been trying to run away from the suspects when they struck between 5.35pm and 5.50pm on December 2.

The boy was taken to North Middlesex

University Hospital in Edmonton where he was treated for puncture wounds to the chest and discharged the next day.

The suspects are black, aged about 17 and dressed in dark clothes. No arrests have yet been made.

Detective Sergeant Simon Jones, of Haringey CID, said: "People may remember it because the assault spilled out into the southbound lane of the High Road, causing cars to swerve."

Anyone with information should call DS Simon Jones on 020 8345 0712.

Lauderdale proves to be a cut above

FOR those who have been deprived of any seasonal cheer this year – Lauderdale House is at hand again to boost merriment levels.

As it has for the past decade, the arts centre in Highgate Hill is holding a Christmas Lantern Making session in the afternoon, followed by a Christmas Sing-along in the evening.

The double-bill next Monday ensures the lovely lanterns are used to light the carol singers and cast a warm glow over proceedings in the long gallery.

"The carols are lead by Aimee Porter, who always performs in our Christmas Cabaret, and is great fun," said the house's manager Katherine Ives. "She's normally dressed as a fairy in a green dress but she recently got married so is thinking of attaching fairy wings to her wedding dress! The event is always popular and is a good old traditional sing-along clocking in at just under an hour."

The lantern making runs from 3-5pm and is aimed at ages three to eight and costs £6. The sing-along starts at 5pm and is free while mulled wine, mince pies and juice will be served for a small charge.

Light work: The lantern-making sessions are always popular

Lauderdale is not done for the year and plays host to Jacinto Theatre – rapidly becoming another Lauderdale tradition – from Tuesday to Thursday, performing its puppet show, Rapunzel.

Tickets cost £6 (£4 concs) with performances at various times. For more details, call the box office on 020 8348 8716.

film

Stripped right down

Burlesque (12A)

Dir: Steven Antin
Starring: Christina Aguilera,
Cher, Kristen Bell

IT'S one of those films that's so cheesy, predictable, formulaic and downright obvious it almost achieves a so-good-it's-bad sheen of invincibility.

At least it is quite hilarious and the critics' screening I attended had a right old festive feel to it as we ticked off the lamer-than-a-dead-dog clichés from the start as Ali (Christina Aguilera) leaves her rubbish job in trailer park land to make it big in the City of Angels, Los Angeles.

Failing to get a job as a dancer, Ali is down on her luck, but just happens to chance upon a glitzy burlesque bar where the women are so glamorous and the barmen (particularly Jack) are so sexy and the owner, Tess (Cher), is just so motherly.

But there's one dancer there called Nikki (Kristen Bell) who is just so nasty to her and when Ali finally does make it on to the stage, nasty Nikki pulls the power so the lip-synching dancers are left, literally, speechless.

But... but... this just provides the perfect chance for Ali to show just what a fantastic singer she really is and blows them all away with her epic vocals leaving Nikki to utter the immortal line, "I can't be upstaged by a slut with mutant lungs!"

Starting from the granddaddy of all musicals, 42nd Street, this rips off every Star Is Born feelgood Hollywood story, particularly – in terms of style – Rob Marshall's film version of Chicago.

And yet it's all done with such panache and lack of irony that there's something rather endearing about its heart-on-its-sleeve mentality so you treat it rather like the simple but cheery child we all knew at primary school.

And Christina is pretty good on camera. We all knew she had a cracking pair of lungs but the girl can act a bit too, albeit in the same way Eminem acted in his feature film debut – virtually playing himself.

So it's not a complete disaster, just don't go expecting anything of intelligence or originality and certainly don't go for a cheap thrill – Christina's breasts are always covered up. This is a 12A after all, kids.

Now Showing...

Being bad can be rather brilliant, in this animated parody of the superhero flick. Cheer on the fiendish Megamind as he attempts to destroy the goody-two-shoes Metro Man with a succession of dastardly plans. Might go above the heads of younger viewers but teens and adults will be in for a Christmas treat.

The American (15)

George Clooney is a professional killer hiding out in a remote Italian town. For two-thirds this grips like a vice but the final act is formulaic and lacking the previous subtlety and intelligence which hinted at greatness.

Harry Potter And The Deathly Hallows – Part One (12A)

More of an exercise in treading water before the dramatic splash of part two than a vintage Potter in its own right. Darker and away from Hogwarts, this still has enough action to provide an entertaining two-and-a-half hours.

Another Year (12A)

Mike Leigh returns to form with this compassionate slice of life. Divided into four seasons over a year, we follow couple, Gerri and Tom, who provide a refuge for lonely friends and family members.

food

Don't be Kung-fused by saddest buffet in town

The Gannets

Kung Fusion, 36 The Town,
Enfield 020 8366 9888

THE best thing about this new addition to north London's culinary scene is its name.

Unwittingly, the owners have come up with the perfect description of a very bewildering eating experience.

It's a shame because times are tough and the food here is cheap, but it would be a dereliction of duty if we did not dissuade you from spending £6.95 on their buffet.

The premises on which it stands has not enjoyed the best of times of late. Standing proudly at the top end of Enfield's Church Street, it enjoyed a successful few years as Pizza Hut before it was taken over by an Enfield family and turned into Blazers which served great meaty feasts but, sadly, lasted only a com-paritively short time before Kung Fusion began its reign.

Rave music greeted us as we entered – never the most relaxing of beginnings – blaring from a TV on the wall, and for the next few minutes we felt required to join the singer in feeling, "so fly like a G6... like a G6... like a G6..." We still don't know what that means.

Wishing to unwind after a hellish morning, we asked for the wine list only to be told the restaurant does not serve alcohol. A coke was ordered which was flatter than Wagner's singing, to be replaced by another one... which was flatter than Ann Widdecombe's feet.

The service, to be blunt, was appalling, and the staff looked almost embarrassed – as if they wanted to be anywhere else.

And then there's the food... an insipid offering of McBuffet grub, including hard spring rolls and sesame prawn toasts along with tasteless samosas for starters, and chicken in gloopy black bean sauce the highlight of the mains.

Hilariously, the king prawns in another vat of gloopy sauce consisted of the smallest prawns we have EVER seen – they were so tiny that Kung Fusion should be worried about the trade description act.

Land of Kung Fusion: New restaurant fails to corner the buffet market

Any other buffet and you have to roll us out. This one, you'd have had to drag us back to the food at gunpoint. Even the dessert trays of fruit looked unappetising and stayed untouched.

We tried to leave, but even though it's been open a few weeks, it still has not got the facilities to accept credit cards, leaving us fumbling around for coins when they should really have been paying us for a lousy hour spent in their company, when all we wanted was a good, simple, hearty buffet to make a bad day better.

● Opening hours: noon to 11pm, seven days a week.

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

1. Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.

2. 'Classified' Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers', and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.

To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent', 'wholesaler', '(T)' etc. in the advertisement.

3. The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:

(a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;

(b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or

(c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.

4. The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.

5. Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.

6. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.

7. Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.

8. All gross advertising rates (except classified lineage and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.

9. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.

10. Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.

11. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.

12. Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.

13. All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.

(1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.

(2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should Legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.

14. Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect for an advertisement(s) should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.

15. All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.

16. All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.

17. The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.

18. The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.

Box Numbers

Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, goods, cash, cash stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A box Number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement, i.e. Box No., centre address. There is no charge for forwarding replies.

Box numbers alone are not available for use in 'Trade' advertisements, other than Employment and Business Opportunities.

Holiday & Travel Category

All advertising must contain the name of the advertiser, phone number alone are not permitted.

Data Protection

The service you have requested may require us to carry out a credit search at a credit-referencing agency, which will record the fact that a search has been made. We may need to share your information with other lenders and credit reference agencies. However, we will only use the information from these searches to make credit-granting decisions and, if necessary, for fraud prevention or tracing debtors.

Data controller will use your information for administration and analysis. We may share your information with other Tindle Group Newspaper companies or carefully selected third parties. We, or they, may send you details of other goods and services, which may be of interest to you. The information may be provided by letter, telephone or other reasonable means of communication. Calls may be recorded or monitored for training purposes.

Special conditions apply with regard to the advertising of adult services, which are outlined to all persons submitting such advertisements.

GOMES: TITLE UP FOR GRABS

By Lee Husson

GOALKEEPER Heurelho Gomes believes Tottenham remain in the hunt for the Premier League title after their 1-1 draw with Chelsea at White Hart Lane on Sunday.

The Brazilian stopper had an eventful afternoon, with his howler allowing Didier Drogba to equalise after Roman Pavlyuchenko had given the home side a first-half lead.

Gomes also flattened Blues midfielder Ramires in injury time to give away a penalty, but made amends by saving Drogba's spot-kick to ensure the points were shared and keep the title race wide open.

Fifth-placed Spurs are seven points off of top spot, and the keeper has backed them to mount a title challenge – but only if they can improve on their dismal defensive record which has seen them unable to keep a clean sheet since the opening day of the season.

“Teams like Man United or Chelsea, they keep a lot of clean sheets,” Gomes said. “We just changed the way we play now. We need time to adapt.

“Sometimes we need to be more compact to keep more clean sheets. We concede goals because we attack as well.

“It's not easy to play against a team like Chelsea. When you come to a game like that and people say Tottenham can win the game, this shows everybody how good we are.

“We must keep going and try to pick up points. I think we can keep going and can finish up there.”

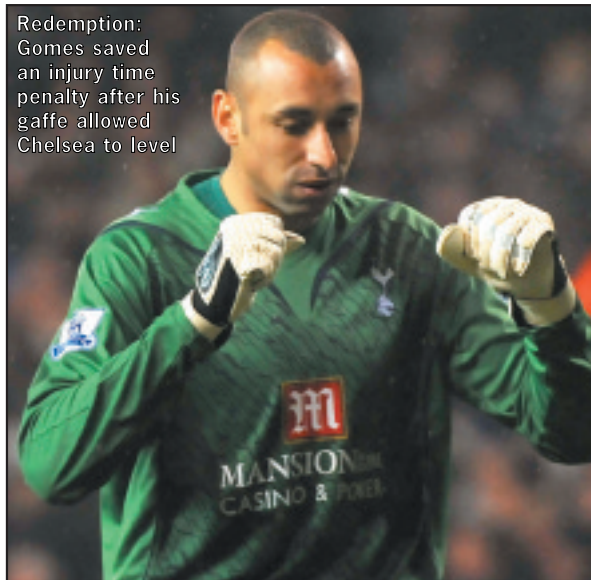

The game also saw the return to action of defender Michael Dawson, who captained the side after missing the past three months with a knee injury picked up on England duty.

“He's a great player,” Gomes added.

“We kept a lot of clean sheets together last season. He was great for us and I think he's amazing in front of me.

“He pushes us a bit and we need players like him.”

Redemption: Gomes saved an injury time penalty after his gaffe allowed Chelsea to level

SPORTS SHORTS

Rugby League: London Skolars head coach Joe Mbu continues to strengthen his squad after announcing the signing of former Quins RL half-back Dylan Skee.

The 24-year-old Australian joins the club after spending last season at Whitehaven, where he scored five tries in 15 appearances.

The move followed three seasons with Quins, where he played in three Super League matches.

Skee will link up with two former Quins team-mates at the Skolars after last season's top try-scorer Ade Adebisi re-signed for the 2011 campaign, along with Luke May.

Winger Adebisi, 24, scored 13 tries in 17 appearances last season, while May, 20, made ten appearances for the club on a dual registration deal from Quins.

“They are great young talents and will add considerably to our attacking force in the backs,” Mbu said.

Football: Haringey Borough were forced to settle for a point on Saturday after they were held in a six-goal thriller at Coles Park by Hillingdon Borough in the Spartan Premier Division.

The hosts scored with their first attack of note when Richard Worrell blasted a shot into the top corner, and he doubled the lead minutes later – heading home a corner.

However, Hillingdon hit back in style after the restart with three goals in a ten-minute spell, turning the game on its head.

Oliver Hawkins, Aaron Lansiquot and Nicholas Airewele got the goals to put them in front, but, undeterred, Haringey pushed for an equaliser, and were rewarded in the last minute when Worrell fired into the roof of the net to seal his hat-trick and a point for his side.
